

Media Advisory
The Flu & You: Questions and Answers from UC San Diego School of Medicine Experts

Looking for information on H1N1 or seasonal flu? Experts from UC San Diego School of Medicine are available at the click of a mouse.

UC San Diego Health Sciences has produced three informative, educational videos related to the 2009 seasonal flu and 2009 H1N1 flu. Your readers and viewers can access these videos by visiting this link:

<http://health.ucsd.edu/swine-flu/>

Media are welcome to use segments of these interviews. Download high-resolution versions of the material at:

http://vmg.ucsd.edu/download/vmg_pub/HS%20Media%20Release/H1N1%20Uncompressed%20Videos/

Featured Experts:

Randy Taplitz, MD
Clinical Director, Division of Infectious Diseases
UC San Diego School of Medicine

Mark Sawyer, MD
Pediatric Infectious Disease Specialist
UC San Diego School of Medicine

As we enter the fall and winter months, these videos will help keep our San Diego community informed and healthy by answering frequently asked questions and dispelling myths related to seasonal flu and the 2009 H1N1 influenza.

For more information, contact: Kim Edwards, PIO,
UC San Diego Health Sciences Marketing and Communication, kedwards@ucsd.edu, 619-543-6163

###